ABOUT STOREBRAND

Storebrand Asset Management is Norway's largest private asset manager and a specialist in sustainable investing. Sustainability is integral to Storebrand's business and our ESG analysis, which aligns with the UN's Sustainability Development Goals, is fully integrated into the investment processes for all assets under management. Our long-term vision for the year 2050 is a world where nine billion people live well, within the earth's natural limits, and we believe that the companies which contribute to solving society's problems in a sustainable way will also be the most profitable in the long run.

INVESTMENT COMMENTARY

Storebrand Global Solutions is an actively managed global equity portfolio investing in sustainable impact companies. The strategy is fossil-free and seeks to generate alpha by identifying businesses from developed and emerging markets that provide solutions to help achieve the UN's Sustainable Development Goals. The portfolio is centred on four complimentary investment themes; renewable energy, smart cities, circular economy and equal opportunities.

- Of the four portfolio themes, smart cities was the best performer during the second quarter, followed by equal opportunities and circular economy. Renewable energy has had a difficult start to the year.
- Nvidia has been part of a group of companies that have benefitted from tailwinds due to the recent focus on Artificial Intelligence and has performed well in the portfolio.
- While the renewable segment has underperformed relative to the market, there are some positive developments worth noting. According to a report from Global Energy Monitor, an NGO focused on the international energy landscape, "China is on track to double its utility-scale solar and wind power capacity and shatter the central government's ambitious 2030 target of 1,200 gigawatts (GW) five years ahead of schedule, if all prospective projects are successfully built and commissioned."
- Closer to home, May was the first month on record when the EU produced more electricity through wind and solar than through fossil fuels according to the think tank, Ember. This has also led to record low use of coal in electricity production. While the usual caveats remain important, as renewables do not yet represent the whole solution due to baseload requirements, the progress being made in transitioning to a greener electricity supply is significant.
- Finally, according to a new International Energy Agency report: "Global investment in clean energy is on course to rise to USD 1.7 trillion in 2023, with solar set to eclipse oil production for the first time... Investment in clean energy technologies is significantly outpacing spending on fossil fuels as affordability and security concerns triggered by the global energy crisis strengthen the momentum behind more sustainable options."
- During the quarter we entered into new positions in Nextracker, Array Technologies, Mercadolibre, Tomra Systems, Cadence Design Systems and First Solar, while the fund exited Brookfield, HP Inc, and Nokia.
